

The Floor of Heaven: A True Tale of the Last Frontier and the Yukon Gold Rush

By Howard Blum

Broadway Books. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 432 pages. Dimensions: 8.0in. x 5.1in. x 1.2in. It is the last decade of the 19th century. The Wild West has been tamed and its fierce, independent and often violent larger-than-life figures gun-toting wanderers, trappers, prospectors, Indian fighters, cowboys, and lawmen are now victims of their own success. They are heroes who've outlived their usefulness. But then gold is discovered in Alaska and the adjacent Canadian Klondike and a new frontier suddenly looms - an immense unexplored territory filled with frozen waterways, dark spruce forests, and towering mountains capped by glistening layers of snow and ice. Klondicitis, a giddy mix of greed and lust for adventure, ignites a stampede. Fleeing the depths of a worldwide economic depression and driven by starry-eyed visions of vast wealth, tens of thousands rush northward. Joining this throng of greenhorns and grifters, whores and highwaymen, sourdoughs and seers are three unforgettable men. In a true-life tale that rivets from the first page, we meet Charlie Siringo, a top-hand sharp-shooting cowboy who, after futilely trying to settle down with his new bride, becomes one of the Pinkerton Detective Agency's shrewdest; George Carmack, a California-born American Marine who's adopted by an...
