Excerpt: . . . and also provide nurses with better educational qualifications. It would certainly help a girl who wished later to become a practical nurse and might even provide her with an immediate vocation. One doctor went as far as to say that this work should be required of every girl in high school; and another, that if such a course was introduced as the result of this Survey, it alone would be worth to the city the cost of making the whole Survey. Investigation shows that some of this work is already being taught in the high school. In the Domestic Science course we already find such subjects given as cooking, the composition and value of foods in the diet, balanced rations, hygiene, including simple work in anatomy and personal, home and public sanitation; bacteriology with some description of diseases and emergency measures. At present all these subjects are taught under the head of Cooking. The course for nurses would need to include simple laboratory work in bacteriology and a full course in the care and feeding of babies, as well as work in home nursing. Botany, but especially chemistry, both of which are already offered in the high school, should also be included in the course. With a minimum of change such a course might be run as shown below. A more descriptive naming of the course now called Cooking I, II, III and IV would be advantageous. First Year Cooking I and II.
